EMILY BROWNING

Emily Browning is one of Australia's most internationally acclaimed actresses. She currently plays Laura Moon in the Starz series adaption of American Gods, based on the 2001 best-selling and award-winning fantasy novel by Neil Gaiman. She was also recently in The Affair, a multi-award-winning series from Showtime.

International film work includes Legend, opposite Tom Hardy, for director Brian Helgeland; Golden Exits, for director Alex Ross Perry, which premiered at the Sundance Film Festival; The Shangri-La Suite, directed by Eddie O'Keefe; God Help the Girl, directed and written by Belle and Sebastian front-man Stuart Murdoch, which premiered in competition at Sundance; the action drama Pompeii, opposite Kit Harington; and the psychological thriller Plush, directed by Catherine Hardwicke.

Emily is a talented songstress, having sung for several roles including those in Plush and God Help the Girl.

Other film credits include Sucker Punch, from director Zack Snyder, Sebastian Silva's Magic, Magic, opposite Michael Cera; Summer in February; The Uninvited for DreamWorks; and the Australian film Sleeping Beauty, in which she played the lead. Sleeping Beauty, the directorial debut of Julia Leigh, premiered at the Cannes Film Festival in Official Selection.

Emily's breakthrough role came at only 14-years-old when she was cast opposite Jim Carrey and Meryl Streep in the feature Lemony Snicket's A Series of Unfortunate Events for Paramount/DreamWorks. This role saw her honoured with an Australian Film Institute Award (AFI) for International Best Actress.

Early film credits include The Man who Sued God, with Billy Connolly and Judy Davis; Darkness Falls; Ghost Ship and Ned Kelly, opposite Heath Ledger.
